Jade Sky Project Management is the company that is able to assist you to navigate the South African renewable energy space. The staff have extensive knowledge to make you understand a space that might seem complicated at the first glance. As a new entrant into the South African energy sector Jade Sky was my consultant for Windaba 2015, where Monsson attended as a first time sponsor. We had their support as a new company establish in South Africa from the beginning until the end. Yolanda and Siyanda were very helpful and supportive during the arrangements of the conference. The conference itself was a very good event from many points of view. The venue that Kirsten and Leole-Ann ensured that all conference and expo expectations were met. They managed to organize a conference where we have attended, as exhibitors or speakers, all players of the South African wind energy market. My last remark is that it was a conference organized at the highest international level and I will kindly recommend JSPM to anyone that needs a company for PR, organizing industry events, overall knowledge of the South African Energy Sector or political intelligence.
